

COOKIES POLICY

Table of contents

01

DEFINTIONS

02

TYPES AND PURPOSES OF COOKIES

03

LEGAL BASIS FOR PROCESSING

04

RETENTION PERIOD

COOKIES POLICY

1- DEFINITIONS

A cookie is defined as a small file placed on the User's hard disk when visiting the website www.vaultinum.com and which stores information necessary for the proper functioning of the latter and for audience measurement purposes.

The User is informed that cookies do not allow the company VAULTINUM to personally identify the User.

2- TYPES AND PURPOSES OF COOKIES

When the User connects to the website, the User is informed that the company VAULTINUM uses cookies to operate its website and measure its audience via a banner that appears on the first page consulted of the website www.vaultinum.com and each time the User wishes to access an application of the website.

The cookies used by VAULTINUM are of two types:

- Audience measurement cookies, which are used to analyze website consultation statistics.
- Functional cookies that allow the website services to function optimally. The User can technically block them by using the settings of their browser, but their experience on the site may be degraded.

3- LEGAL BASIS FOR PROCESSING

The use of cookies is subject to the User's consent if they are not strictly necessary for the operation of the website www.vaultinum.com. Audience measurement cookies require user consent, which can be given by clicking the "Accept" button. If the user does not wish to allow these cookies, they can click the "Refuse" button.

4- RETENTION PERIOD

The User's choice is kept for six (6) months by the company VAULTINUM. At the end of this period, the "cookies" banner shall reappear, and the User shall be invited to renew their choice.