SECTION II. DEPOSIT AND ESCROW TERMS OF USE

Background

Vaultinum is a company specializing in the protection of digital creations and intangible assets such as software, mobile applications, video games, databases, websites, trade secrets, construction plans, confidential information, etc.

Vaultinum, as a trusted third party, offers a deposit service to meet the needs for simple and rapid protection of any type of Digital Creation and provides its clients with the means to build, manage and enhance their portfolio of intangible assets.

Vaultinum also offers escrow services to secure the relationship between the supplier of a Digital Creation and its client, allowing the latter to access the creation deposited with Vaultinum in case of, for example, default of the supplier, in order to continue its exploitation.

These terms of use include and are in addition to Vaultinum's Platform User Agreement. If any inconsistency is found among the terms and conditions, these Deposit and Escrow Services Terms of Use shall have precedence.

1. SCOPE OF APPLICATION

Any User of the Vaultinum Platform that uses the Deposit and/or Escrow Services, is subject to these specific terms of use.

At the time of each deposit request, the Client certifies that the Digital Creation is deposited on the Account of the owner of the intellectual property rights of said Digital Creation on the date of said deposit request or certifies that Client has obtained the prior authorization of the intellectual property rights holder.

2. DEPOSIT SERVICES

2.1. Types of Deposit

Vaultinum, as a trusted third-party receiver, registers each Digital Creation submitted to it and gives it a certain date and an IDDN Number.

Vaultinum offers three types of digital Deposits. The Deposit is limited to 10 GB and 1000 files per deposit.

(1) Standard Deposit: The entire procedure is carried out online and the Deposit is electronically sealed and archived. At the end of the procedure, the User can download the IDDN Certificate directly from its Account.

(2) Element Checked Deposit: While guaranteeing the non-alteration of the Deposited Elements, this advanced procedure certifies that the elements provided in the Deposit contain readable data, presented in the form of a clear tree view, and exploitable by the Escrow Beneficiary in the case of an Escrow.

The Element Checked Deposit includes:

- Verification by a Vaultinum agent of the Deposited Elements contained in the files;
- Verification of the files and tree structure provided by the User;
- Calculation of the electronic footprint (HASH) of each file;
- Registration of the Deposit with Vaultinum;
- Sealing of the Deposit;

- Secure archiving of the Deposit in Switzerland;

Delivery of a special Element Checked Deposit Report attesting to the verification (the Report is also annexed to the Deposit).

At the end of the Element Checked Deposit procedure, the User receives an IDDN Certificate and an Element Checked Deposit report describing the Deposited Elements and attesting to their verification.

(3) Content Checked Deposit: This Deposit is specific to software and represents a higher level of verification of Deposited Elements. Vaultinum offers three levels of Content Checked Deposits: Silver, Gold & Platinum. Depending on the option chosen, Vaultinum undertakes to implement a number of checks that can include verification that (1) the Digital Creation deposited with it corresponds to the specifications provided by the Escrow Beneficiary and (2) it functions in accordance with such specifications, or (3) for software provided in SAAS mode, that the escrow process will in effect be useful to Escrow Beneficiary and provide an opinion to the Escrow Beneficiary to that effect if required.

At the end of the Content Checked Deposit procedure, the User receives an IDDN Certificate and a Content Checked Deposit report describing the findings of the review of the contents deposited and attesting to their verification.

2.2. Archiving of Deposits

Data uploaded via the Vaultinum Platform is archived and secured electronically by Vaultinum. Data is hosted on Swiss territory in compliance with the ISO 27001 standard.

Deposits are retained by Vaultinum as long as the Client pays the Fees due to Vaultinum.

2.3. Method of Deposits

Vaultinum offers two ways to make deposits:

(1) Digital Deposits made by the User: User electronically uploads their Deposited Elements via their Account or by contacting Vaultinum for an Element Checked Deposit or Content Checked Deposit;

(2) SCM automated Deposit: If this option is chosen, User hereby authorizes Vaultinum to make automatic deposits by connecting to the hosted repository of the source code. User undertakes to provide to Vaultinum all necessary access codes and authorizations. User hereby grants the necessary powers to Vaultinum to implement this for User and User shall defend and hold Vaultinum harmless against any claims, proceedings or investigations in relation to such service or Deposits. Vaultinum shall use the right to connect to the hosted repository for the sole purpose of making Deposits of the Deposited Elements.

2.4. Deposit Updates

Deposit Updates refers to the deposit of subsequent or successive versions of a Digital Creation. The IDDN Number assigned at the time of the initial Deposit includes an encoding element, which increases with each updated Deposit of the same Digital Creation. The Client can thus maintain a link between the Deposits of different versions of the same Digital Creation.

Depending on the option chosen by the Client, the Deposit of a new version of a Digital Creation shall:

- Not replace the previous Deposit(s) and Vaultinum shall keep a copy of all Deposits made as well as the corresponding Deposited Elements as long as the Client pays the Fees; or
- Replace the previous Deposit, with Vaultinum keeping only the most recent Deposited Elements as long as the Client pays the Fees.

2.5. Duplication procedure

Duplication is a procedure by which a Vaultinum agent makes a copy of a Digital Creation deposited with Vaultinum.

Vaultinum can only duplicate a deposit:

- upon request of the duly identified Client after payment of the duplication Fees;
- upon request of an Escrow Beneficiary after a favorable opinion of the Access Commission (as described below) of Vaultinum and payment of duplication Fees;
- by court order.

The duplication procedure involves:

- creating a digital copy of the Deposit on a physical medium;
- calculating hash value of the copied data and checking conformity with the original hash value;
- delivery of the physical copy to the Client.

2.6. Transfer of Rights

The User undertakes to promptly declare to Vaultinum any change in the ownership of its rights in Deposited Elements (transfer or alienation, total or partial) occurring, for example, in the context of rights assignment or assets transfer. User shall cooperate with Vaultinum in transferring the rights and the payment of related fees unless the assignee agrees to pay for such.

The new rights owner may also notify Vaultinum of its acquisition of rights subject to the production of documents incontestably proving the transfer of rights. Vaultinum will proceed with a legal investigation of any request for transfer of rights and shall, at its sole and absolute discretion, without regard to any standard of reasonableness or other standard by which the determination of Vaultinum might be challenged, decide as to whether to affect such transfer in its systems. The beneficiary of such rights is a User for purposes of this Agreement.

The purpose of the transfer of rights is to allow the new rights holder to keep the Deposit history made by the previous intellectual property rights owner, update the transferred Digital Creation, receive IDDN Certificates established in its name and/or take over any concluded escrow agreements.

Depending on the nature and type of transfer, the transfer of rights procedure involves either:

- the transfer of the Deposits to the Account of the new rights holder ; or
- a replacement of the existing Account holder.

Vaultinum will assess each request on a case-by-case basis and will decide in its sole and absolute discretion, without regard to any standard of reasonableness or other standard by which the determination of Vaultinum might be challenged, which procedure to implement.

3. ESCROW SERVICES

An Escrow Beneficiary to Deposited Elements may request access to the Deposited Elements subject to a written agreement with the Supplier, provided that the Supplier has declared to Vaultinum the existence of such agreement and purchased the related Escrow service provided by Vaultinum.

All escrow agreements are subject to these Terms of Use, unless expressly stated otherwise, which prevail in the event of a contradiction.

Vaultinum offers two types of Escrow services:

1. Bipartite escrow agreement;
2. Tripartite escrow agreement (including through framework contracts).

If a User has not purchased an Escrow service proposed by Vaultinum or a Client has ceased to pay the Fees due to Vaultinum, except in a particular situation (e.g. bankruptcy of the Client), any request for access by an Escrow Beneficiary will be refused unless a court decision authorizes such access to the Deposited Elements and the relevant fees (including all annual fees and past fees due as if an escrow had been entered into originally) have been paid to Vaultinum.

3.1. Bipartite escrow agreement

The bipartite escrow agreement is a two-party agreement concluded between the Supplier and the Escrow Beneficiary which stipulates the terms of the Deposit of a Digital Creation and access cases to the Deposited Elements. Vaultinum is not a signatory to this agreement.

To be effective, the bipartite escrow agreement shall mention:

- The name and IDDN Number of the Deposit concerned;
- The cases in which access to the Deposited Elements is possible;
- The name, registered office and identification number (e.g. SIREN number) of the Supplier and the Escrow Beneficiary;
- The fact that Vaultinum is the third-party escrow agent.

Upon purchase of this Escrow service, a bipartite escrow agreement template will be made available to the Supplier. The Supplier shall be responsible for drafting this agreement and Vaultinum cannot guarantee its applicability.

The number of Beneficiaries and bipartite escrow agreements available under this Escrow service is limited to five on the condition that the Deposit is identical for all Escrow Beneficiaries. Otherwise, additional Escrow services will have to be purchased where the Deposited Elements are different.

The Supplier may provide the contact information of Beneficiaries to Vaultinum in order to give the Escrow Beneficiaries access to a Vaultinum “guest” account. At the end of each Deposit, the Escrow Beneficiary may view and/or download the corresponding IDDN Certificate via the “guest” account. “Guest” account users are Users for the purpose of this Agreement.

The bipartite escrow agreement service is valid for one (1) year from the date of the invoice for the service. It shall be tacitly renewed for an equivalent period of time unless terminated by the Supplier, such termination being notified via e-mail, return-receipt requested and acknowledgment of receipt obtained, at least ninety (90) calendar days before the expiration of the current period.

3.2. Tripartite escrow agreement

The tripartite escrow agreement is an agreement concluded between the Supplier, the Escrow Beneficiary and Vaultinum which stipulates the terms of the Deposit of the Digital Creation and access cases to the Deposited Elements.

In the context of an escrow agreement, it is recommended to make an Element Checked Deposit or a Content Checked Deposit.

The Supplier must provide Vaultinum with a finalized version of the tripartite escrow agreement before signing.

The Supplier may provide the contact information of Beneficiaries to Vaultinum in order to give the Escrow Beneficiary access to a Vaultinum “guest” account. At the end of each Deposit, the Escrow Beneficiary may view and/or download the corresponding IDDN Certificate via the “guest” account. “Guest” account users are Users for the purpose of this Agreement.

The tripartite escrow agreement service is valid for one (1) year from the date of the invoice for the service. It shall be automatically renewed for an equivalent period of time unless terminated by the Supplier or Vaultinum, such termination being notified via e-mail at least ninety (90) calendar days before the expiration of the current period unless otherwise provided in the escrow agreement.

Vaultinum offers an online Escrow Agreement and framework Escrow Agreement at the Supplier's and Escrow Beneficiary's option.

3.3. Deposit Updates

Supplier agrees to update its deposits as required under the escrow agreement. If there are no changes to the deposited materials but the deposit update is set as a periodical update, Supplier shall complete the self-declaration form provided by Vaultinum attesting that the deposited materials have not been changed or altered since the previous update. This declaration will be added to the deposited materials and be invoiced as a Deposit, and will not replace the previous Deposit.

3.4. Procedure for accessing Deposited Elements

Access to Deposited Elements shall be conducted in accordance with the procedure for accessing Deposited Elements, described below, and after the issuance of a decision from the Access Commission of Vaultinum, taken in the Access Commission's sole and absolute discretion. Any contrary stipulation cannot be enforceable against Vaultinum.

The Access Commission is formed by three experts, one of which is Vaultinum Senior Legal Advisor who will analyze and decide whether to grant access to Deposited Elements within the framework of an escrow in the case of a request by an Escrow Beneficiary.

In the event of a favorable decision from the Access Commission, the identical duplication of the Deposited Elements will be carried out by a Vaultinum agent from the last update of the Deposit, unless expressly requested by the Escrow Beneficiary to access a prior Deposit, if available depending on the Deposit Update form defined by the Client as indicated in Article 2.4.

Duplication of the Deposited Elements may be given to the Escrow Beneficiary or to any person holding a mandate granted by the Escrow Beneficiary and expressly authorizing it to obtain said duplication.

3.5. Procedure for accessing Deposited Elements

3.5.1. Referral to the Access Commission

The Escrow Beneficiary who wishes to access the Deposited Elements with Vaultinum shall send its request by registered letter with acknowledgment of receipt to the Access Commission, Rue de Genève 18 1225 Chêne-Bourg Genève – SWITZERLAND and/or by e-mail to legal@vaultinum.com.

The Escrow Beneficiary shall append to such request the documents that substantiate its request and must provide the written agreement(s) in which the access to the Deposited Elements has been previously agreed between Supplier and Escrow Beneficiary.

3.5.2. Appointment of a rapporteur

Upon receipt of the Escrow Beneficiary's access request, the legal General Counsel of Vaultinum appoints, among the members of the Access Commission, a rapporteur whose role is to gather the requests and claims formulated by the parties.

3.5.3. Notification to the depositor

The rapporteur shall inform the Supplier, their successors in title and/or their legal representative of the request of the Escrow Beneficiary(ies), by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt and/or by e-mail. The depositor, their successors in title and/or their legal representative have the possibility of formulating their observations within a maximum period of eight (8) working days following the reception of the said notification.

The rapporteur shall inform the Escrow Beneficiary by simple letter or by e-mail of the opening of a procedure for access to the Deposited Elements.

3.5.4. Drafting of the report submitted to the Access Commission

The rapporteur shall prepare a report for the purpose of:

- declaring the jurisdiction of the Access Commission;
- establishing the deposit of the claimed elements;
- recording the requests and claims of the parties;
- assessing whether a condition of access to the Deposited Elements, which is the subject of the written agreement binding the Escrow Beneficiary and the Supplier, has been met;
- providing an advisory opinion in favor of or against access to the Deposited Elements.

3.5.5. Opinion of the Access Commission

After having reviewed the report and validly deliberated, the Access Commission issues a favorable or unfavorable opinion on the Escrow Beneficiary's request. When the elements presented to the Access Commission demonstrate that the conditions of access are fulfilled, and this without prejudice to the laws and regulations in force, the Access Commission systematically gives a favorable opinion. In case of unfavorable opinion of the Access Commission, the dispute will be decided by referral of the case to the competent court of Geneva. Vaultinum will then comply with the court decision.

3.5.6. Delivery of the Deposited Elements

In case of a favorable opinion of the Access Commission or upon receipt of a court decision in favor of the Escrow Beneficiary, an employee of Vaultinum will proceed to the opening of the sealed envelopes containing the Deposited Elements or to the opening of the electronic seals in case of digital archiving.

The duplication will be done in the same manner, by an employee of Vaultinum, from the last update of the deposit, unless expressly requested by the Escrow Beneficiary to access a previous deposit of the same IDDN source, if available depending on the Deposit Update form defined by the Supplier as indicated in Article 2.4.

The duplication of the Deposited Elements shall be delivered to the Escrow Beneficiary, to any other person expressly referred to in the Agreement organizing access to the said elements or to any person having a mandate granted by the Escrow Beneficiary and expressly authorizing them to obtain the said delivery.

3.5.7. Fees

The costs of duplicating the Deposited Elements will be the subject of an estimate prior to the realization of these operations. No access to the Deposited Elements will be authorized in the event of non-payment of the duplication fees.

3.5.8. Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise specified, the intellectual property rights on the element(s) delivered to the Escrow Beneficiary are not transferred.

4. PAYMENT OF FEES

The Fees related to Deposit and Escrow services are available online at vaultinum.com or upon request for an estimate. Fees are paid by credit card or SEPA direct debit at the time of the order. Fees are due in full, without discount, and are payable on the bank account whose contact details are indicated on the invoice. Fees can be paid for by the depositor/Supplier, the Escrow Beneficiary or a third-party payor. If Supplier is identified as payor but fails to pay, Vaultinum shall be entitled to alert Escrow Beneficiary to this and Escrow Beneficiary shall be entitled to pay the Fees for Supplier. If a purchase order is required for the payment of invoices issued by Vaultinum, it is up to the depositor/Supplier or its third-party payer to send this purchase order by email to contact@vaultinum.com. In the event of rejection of a SEPA direct debit, a lump sum of thirty (30) euros will be applied as of right in compensation for the rejection costs borne by Vaultinum.

5. RETURN AND DESTRUCTION OF DEPOSITS

5.1. During the contractual relationship

The depositor may, at any time during the contractual relationship, request that Vaultinum return and/or destroy the Deposited Elements. The return of the Deposited Elements means the definitive recovery by the depositor of all or part of the Deposited Elements, provided that the export of this information is technically possible. In the event of a request for restitution, the Parties undertake to cooperate actively in order to determine the modalities for implementing such restitution.

5.2. In case of non-payment of Fees

In the absence of payment of all or part of the Fees owed to Vaultinum, the depositor will have the opportunity to request the return of the Deposited Elements within thirty (30) days following a formal notice from Vaultinum that has gone unanswered. At the end of this period, Vaultinum will be entitled to destroy the Deposited Elements.

5.3. In the event of a termination request

The depositor will have the opportunity to request the return or destruction of the Deposited Elements within thirty (30) days of the Client's request for termination. In the absence of a request for the return or destruction of the Deposited Elements sent by the depositor within the above-mentioned period, Vaultinum may proceed with their destruction.

6. CONFIDENTIALITY

All information relating to Deposits made with Vaultinum is strictly confidential. Only the depositor or any person duly authorized by the depositor and duly identified by Vaultinum is authorized to request and obtain information on Deposits except as provided in Article 3 – Escrow services.

7. LIABILITY

Vaultinum's services are governed by this Agreement, then in effect and as published on the website vaultinum.com at the time of the triggering event that may engage Vaultinum's responsibility, which the User expressly acknowledges and irrevocably accepts.

Acting solely as a custodian, Vaultinum may not be held liable for the content, corrections, authenticity, integrity and validity of the Deposited Elements.

Vaultinum is not subject to any obligation other than those provided in this Agreement and, as appropriate, in an ad hoc agreement signed by Vaultinum (such as an escrow agreement). Apart from the cases of death or bodily injuries caused by one of the Parties, of fraud or gross negligence, the full liability of Vaultinum or of one of its suppliers arising from its services may not under any circumstances exceed the lesser of either the total Fees paid by Client in the twelve months preceding the event that resulted in damages or twenty-five thousand (25,000) euros in total. Vaultinum may not be held liable for the following damage: interruption of business, loss of profits, loss of income, loss of personal information, loss of clients or the costs related to obtaining replacement goods and services of the Deposited Elements, whether or not Vaultinum has been informed of the eventuality or of the occurrence of such damage. The Parties agree that Section 7 herein provides for a sharing of the reasonable risks and constitutes a decisive clause without which it would not have been entered into by Vaultinum.

For SCM automated Deposit, the Client shall provide all access codes and authorizations to enable Vaultinum the right to connect to the hosted repository and shall be fully responsible for failure to do so or for the inability of Vaultinum to connect to the hosted repository.

For Element Checked Deposit and Content Checked Deposit, Vaultinum warrants the implementation of the process as described to the depositor according to the information provided by the depositor and its needs. Vaultinum will use its best commercial efforts to ensure that Deposited Elements verified by a Vaultinum agent are usable.
